Proceedings of Institutions.

GLASGOW MECHANICS' INSTITUTION.—The annual meeting of the friends of this Institution was held on Tuesday, 21st May, in the hall of the Institution—the Lord Provost in the chair. There was a numerous attendance of the students and their relations; and among those present were—Bailie Couper, Bailie Blackie, Bailie Ure; the Deacon-Convener, Councillor Salmon; Messrs. D. Moore, Peter Hamilton, John M'Dougall, Wm. Swanston, Jas. Inglis, John Mossman, and the lecturers and teachers. The Lord Provost stated that this was the thirty-eighth annual meeting of this Institution. It had progressed from year to year successfully and prosperously, and he was glad to say that the report for the past year was the most satisfactory one that had yet been produced. He would be very much disappointed if such were not the result, when they took into consideration the extreme assiduity and energy of the gentlemen who directed the various operations of the Institution, and also when they took into account the talent of the several lecturers who from day to day instilled principles and education into the minds of the young, and even of those of a more advanced period in life. One thing, however, extremely gratified him that day, and that was that he had had an opportunity, accompanied by Bailie Couper, of going through their very magnificent new rooms in Bath-street, and, as representative of the city, he had to thank, not only them, but their directors, for having added one more architectural laurel to adorn the city. As head of the corporation, he felt that they lay, even on that ground alone, under great obligations to the committee of management, and when they considered the results that were sure to flow from the opening of that Institution—that age after age was to receive from the lips of able and talented men what was to make a young and rising youth useful in their day and generation—they had to thank Providence that put it into the hearts of friends around them to exert themselves to procure such a valuable Institution.—Mr. M'Dougall, Secretary, read the annual report, which stated that in many respects the session just terminated had proved one of the most successful since the establishment of the Institution. The new buildings in Bath-street would be ready for occupation in a short time; and although a considerable sum as interest of debt, together with an increase of working expenses, must to some extent burden the Institution, the directors were hopeful that in the course of a year or two the inhabitants of Glasgow, and particularly its merchant princes, who were so much indebted to the class whose interests the Institution was specially intended to forward, would give them assistance in clearing off this debt. Among the educational institutions throughout the kingdom in union with the Society of Arts, London, the Glasgow Mechanics' Institution occupied a very high place. 53 students this session has been enrolled as candidates. The number of tickets sold for the various classes in the Institution was 1,423, being an increase of 189 over last year. The income of the Institution for the past year was £716.—On the motion of Bailie Couper, seconded by Mr. P. HAMILTON, the report was adopted.—Mr. Sheriff BELL, after referring to the deep interest he had always taken in this Institution, and to the removal to the more commodious and more beautiful premises in Bath-street, hinted that there was a possibility of the Chancellor of the Exchequer being present at the public opening of the new building. After recommending for the perusal of the young men the work of Dr. Craik, Belfast, on "The Pursuit of Learning under Difficulties," Dr. Smiles' "Self Help," and the Recorder of Birmingham's volume, entitled "Our Exemplars," the learned Sheriff proceeded to point out the importance of energy and perseverance in the pursuit of knowledge, and concluded as follows:—"I can assure you that nothing delights me more than to see the earnest brow and the busy, forward-looking eye of youth, when hope is high and the whole world is before them. You have that blessed futurity, if you choose to make it blessed, and I trust in God you will use your exertions to do so. And then, whatever becomes of your temporal interests in life, you will at all events feel that you have done your duty, morally and intellectually, and endeavoured, as far as in you lay, to prepare yourself for a higher and a better world. With these sentiments, allow me to propose this resolution:—"That the Glasgow Mechanics' Institution, in respect of its vast usefulness to the citizens of Glasgow in promoting the arts and sciences, and being about to remove to more commodious premises, is entitled to an increase of public support."—Councillor SALMON seconded the motion, which was approved of.—The Lord Provost then distributed the prizes gained by successful students. Contributions of books, &c., were then presented to the Institution, and votes of thanks having been accorded to the Local Board of the Society of Arts, the office-bearers of the Institution, and the Lord Provost, the meeting separated.
